DR. NAMDEO KIRSAN (GADCHIROLI-CHIMUR): Skill India aims to address the growing skill gap in India by providing vocational training and creating employment opportunities, which is a valuable goal. But unfortunately there have been reports of alleged misuse of funds and irregularities in certain implementations of the Skill India scheme & concerns regarding quality control, lack of proper monitoring, and instances of fraudulent training centers have come to notice. From the view point of quality issues, it is stated that some training centers have been accused of providing sub-par training, leading to concerns about the quality of skills imparted. With regard to misuse of funds, investigations have revealed instances of funds allocated to Skill India schemes being misappropriated by certain training providers. Further lack of monitoring has been noticed as inadequate oversight mechanisms have been pointed out, potentially allowing for fraudulent activities to go undetected. Implementation challenges are there since reaching geographically remote areas and ensuring effective training delivery is a challenge.
