UNSTARRED QUESTION NO:348
ANSWERED ON:01.03.2007
UNLOADING OF GOODS AT RAILWAY STATIONS
Hasan Chaudhary Munawwar

Will the Minister of RAILWAYS be pleased to state:

- (a) whether various parties in connivance with local employees manage to get their goods unloaded out of turn at railway stations in Uttar Pradesh despite the announced policy of 'first come, first served' for rack placement;
- (b) if so, the details of such cases came to light during the last three years at various stations;
- (c) the details of raids conducted by Vigilance Wing of the railways in this connection and the action taken against the culprit in each such case;
- (d) whether unloading of goods of various public sector organisations is adversely affected due to the said practice; and
- (e) if so, the steps taken by the Railways to bring about transparency in functioning?

Answer

MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF RAILWAYS (SHRI R. VELU)

- (a): No such complaint has been received.
- (b) to (d): Do not arise.
- (e): Rules are strictly followed with full transparency.
