

with regard to inspectors. Technical persons are tied down to desk jobs. Why should technical persons be tied down like that? This is the bane of our country. We tie down technical persons to desk jobs. Technical men should not be tied down to desk jobs. If we want technical men to work on shop floors or in the workshop, why cannot there be some arrangements whereby there is a generalist for store work and not a technical man?

SHRI MOHD. SHAFI QURESHI:
The hon. Member asked about the trouble in Bombay. It started with the pointsman's problem. A point has to be set. The telecommunication and signal staff are working to rule and they said: we must get in writing what the trouble is and then a man would be sent. The pointsman should go and report that there was a small trouble in the instrument. He said this should be reported back to them. It meant two or three hours. Normally they would go, check it and set right the defect. Because of work-to-rule everything must be meticulously followed. Naturally, as a result of that, 51 local trains had to be cancelled in Bombay. They refused to work; they did not want to work; it was hardly a distance of 200 yards. The other point is about the yardstick drawn by the ICRI sub-committee. Its recommendations were considered by the Railway Administration. Individual railways had been directed to frame rules fixing yardsticks, considering the conditions prevailing in their areas. With regard to the other points which the hon. Member has raised, it is a very good piece of advice and I hope it will go down the other side also. We shall also consider what best can be done.
