REPRESENTATION OF THE PEOPLE (AMENDMENT) BILL—contd.

(Insertion of new Section 7A) by Shri
T. B. Vittal Rao

Mr. Speaker: The House will now resume further discussion on the motion moved by Shri T. B. Vittal Rao on the 16th April, 1960:

"That the Bill further to amend the Representation of the People Act, 1951 be taken into consideration."

Out of 2 hours allotted for the discussion of this Bill, 29 minutes have already been taken on the 16th April, 1960. So, only an hour and 31 minutes are now available.

Shri Jaipal Singh may kindly continue his speech. He has already taken 7 minutes. He may take 7 or 8 minutes more.

Shri Jaipal Singh (Ranchi West-Reserved-Sch. Tribes): Mr. Speaker, Sir, although the sponsor of this Bill has not given the proper thought which is due to it, it has served a very useful purpose and it is a matter which has exercised the minds of every political party. Within the last 24 hours we have had the meetings of our hon. friends opposite where there has been a great deal of expression given against certain persons whose independent opinion or whose contrary views in this House or outside have been resented.

I think, this is true of any political party. This Bill purports to deal not only with political parties but with members as such of the legislature. Even an independent member may go to the electorate and make all manner of promises which he may not be able to implement once he is elected to the legislature. My grievance against the sponsor of this Bill is that he does not assail the other representatives of the people. He is touching upon only the representatives of the House of the People and the legislative assemblies of the States. Somehow or other he does not seem to be concerned about the manner or the mannerless way that other elected representatives may behave or misbehave in the Upper Houses either in Parliament or in the States.
