BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Speaker: When a sitting Member of the House passes away, particularly in Delhi, at the headquarters, it is usual, as a mark of respect, to adjourn the House for the day. As we have agreed to conclude this Session by the 8th of this month and there is not much outstanding work, I do not think the House will be against adjourning now and taking up all this work tomorrow, including questions.

Several Hon. Members: Yes.

Mr. Speaker: Otherwise, we will have to sit on Saturday, the 9th. I do not want to extend the House beyond the 8th.

So the House will now stand adjourned for the rest of the day and meet again at 11 A.M. tomorrow.

(The Lok Sabha then adjourned till Eleven of the Clock on Saturday, December 2, 1961/Agrahayana 11, 1883 (Saka).)
